For being human and making mistakes sometimes.
When will you admit you are wrong?

This is my last post to you on this thread.
I love you, my prayers are with you. I hope you come to your senses and realise I am not your enemy.

Have a good weekend.

Im sorry ~C, I should have been stronger...

See, you won't admit to the mistake you made by first accusing me of putting irrelevant info in this thread, and then turning it around and saying you were talking about my comments about "RealShrimp".

You said absolutely nothing (the first time) to that twerp who started this whole thing (the second time was hardly noticeable).

Go back through these pages and count how many times YOU put useless information in this thread, or anybody else. This thread stopped being about "picture puzzles" before I came into the picture here.

Nobody sees the connection to Azazel and the quote from Leviticus 25:10 (which relates to Yom Kippur) and Malachi 4:5 either, and how it all connects to the inscription on the Liberty Bell (Leviticus 25:10) and the "bullitt" picture of "Coming Back to Life"

"or I will strike the land with a curse"

And my "information" IS relevant to Pink Floyd and the Enigma, just as much as anybody elses.

Who made the "bullitt" picture?

Nice Chart Cordelia.

I was trying to think of anything you might have missed, and I thought (just now) about "misunderstanding" or maybe "crossed signals" (interruption of communication) another form of "manipulation" (I noticed that it is in gray) is "persuasion" (usually good) or "temptation" (usually bad) which ultimately leads to a division (a change of heart or course of action-good or bad)

Example: <http://answers.google.com/answers/threadview?id=564884>

(This is oddly coincidental---I discovered there's a blogger on here named "Pinkfrued-Ga", the first link I clicked on when doing a search on the subject)

Pinkfrued from Googleanswers wrote:

To me, manipulation differs from persuasion. Manipulation implies an element of deception. Take, for example, advertising. The purpose of an advertisement is to lure me into buying something. I see nothing intrinsically wrong in that. If an ad presents a product in an attractive manner and promotes its best features, that's fine with me. That's persuasion. However, if an advertisement misrepresents the product, or uses misleading terms in describing it, that is manipulation.

I can't think of anything else at this time...

"Jonah's big fish" is what caught my eye. The name Jonah means "dove" aren't there some dove sounds in a marooned clip you posted in here, along with whale noises? Actually it's in this thread, and the clip is 8 seconds into Take It Back EDIT: wrong again, it's actually in High Hopes (the bird noises) They are "cooing" like doves do.

<http://publiusenigma.com/forum/viewtopic.php?p=6771#6771> (scroll up)

There were 8 people on Noah's Ark, and the story of Jonah is a type of Noah's Ark. 8 is also the number of New Beginnings.

The "fish" or "whale" as spoken by Jesus comes from a Greek word "ketos" whose root is where we get the word "chasm" or "chaos" which is what the Cluster One noises sound like---chaotic noise.

click on this link, then click on the word "whale's" which brings you to "ketos" then click on 5490 "Chasma" (from the obsolete root word "Chao") which is assumed to be the base of the word used for whale

The book of Job mentions two great sea monsters--Behemoth and Leviathan---and also some astronomical asterisms such as Orion and Plaides

God even asks Job questions in the line of "Where were you when this all started?" just like Genesis asked in one of his posts.

Quote:

Job 38

*1 Then the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said:
2 "Who is this who darkens counsel
By words without knowledge?
3 Now prepare yourself like a man;
I will question you, and you shall answer Me.
4 " Where were you when I laid the foundations of the earth?
Tell Me, if you have understanding.*

Quote:

*31 "Can you bind the cluster of the Pleiades,
Or loose the belt of Orion?
32 Can you bring out Mazzaroth[a] in its season?
Or can you guide the Great Bear with its cubs?
33 Do you know the ordinances of the heavens?
Can you set their dominion over the earth?"*

Ironically, a foot is a type of foundation (as in a footer or header, in building construction terms)
